JOBS FOR PEACE AND RESILIENCE
Training Programme
Building peace. Fostering social cohesion. Generating jobs.

The current global context calls for the international community to act in the face of increasingly complex crises, such as climate change, pandemics, armed conflict, forced displacement, irregular migration, trafficking in persons, radicalization, and terrorism.

ITCILO’s JPR Training Programme aims to strengthen the capacity of governments, social partners and relevant stakeholders to design and implement strategies to promote peace, prevent crisis, enable recovery and build resilience.

Guided by the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda, especially SDGs 8, 16 and 5, as well as the ILO’s Employment and Decent Work for Peace and Resilience Recommendation No. 205, runs training, knowledge-sharing, and other learning JPR-related initiatives.

Over the past three years, the ITCILO has been actively engaged in promoting decent work for women and men in situations of fragility:

More than 1,800 participants attended JPR training courses, of whom 50% were women

A diverse group of participants came from 62 countries

Activities were offered in five languages: English, Arabic, French, Spanish and Dari
